Lewis Holdout For Pay

John L. Says Miners Will Get Increase Sooner or Later; Unrest Until Then

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis asserted today the coal miners in his union will get their full $1.90-a-day pay increase "sooner or later." And, he said, there is going to be unrest in the mining towns until the government approves the raise.

The United Mine Workers chief joined with Industry Spokesman Harry M. Moses in asking Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam to reverse Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) decision denying part of the pay raise.

The WSB ruled Oct. 18 that only $1.50 of the raise can be allowed under the government's anti-inflation policies.

Lewis and Moses argued that the miners get their money in straight wages without the fringe benefits enjoyed by other workers who have longer vacations, holidays and other concessions not reflected directly in pay envelopes.

Just before the informal hearing with Putnam recessed for lunch, Lewis complained about government "interference" with the coal industry's collective bargaining processes. He said the WSB ruling had stirred up "unrest and confusion" among the 350,000 soft coal miners in the UMW.

"The mine workers," Lewis shouted, "will wait until you're no longer here, Mr. Putnam—I read in the newspapers that you are leaving your government job soon—and wait until the wage board returns to Harvard and to the cloisters of the N. A. M., and then we'll go to Mr. Moses and demand our full contract."

Putnam asked Moses whether he thought the full $1.90 a day pay raise would serve to "pressure" wage increases in other industries. "I don't think this raise will have to be unnoted around the country," Putnam observed.

Moses replied that the coal industry and the miners' union negotiate a contract, often with bitter strikes and public fanfare, makes most of their decisions quite noticeable. But he added that he doubted that a $1.90 raise for the miners would spur pay increases in other industries.

Noting that Moses merely expressed doubt, Putnam said: "That's not saying it won't."

Moses: "I'm not able to measure it."

Involved in the case are factors of far-reaching importance whether the wage control program can be continued in its present form, whether the miners may strike and whether coal prices may be boosted still higher.

Only Saturday, ceiling prices for coal were raised to offset a $1.50 wage increase. And over the week end the CIO said that wage controls might as well be abandoned. A top AFL official also demanded that certain wage controls be dropped unless changes are made.

Cross Roads Comment

By G. H. S.

The flying rumors gathered as they rolled. Scarcely any tale was sooner heard than told.

And all who told it added something new. And all who heard it made enlargements too.

Pope — The Temple of Fame.

Eating dinner late Sunday afternoon in a Columbia highway restaurant, I watched dark clouds low on the north horizon without realizing the winds they accompanied were tearing up Hopkins, Missouri. I read of the damage this morning about the time Sedalia became worried a tornado was coming our way again.

Those dark clouds up north yesterday were no uglier than the tornado rumor in Sedalia this morning. Family routines were completely upset. A worry clinic could have done good business here for an hour or so. It's difficult to track down the starting point of a rumor. A half-heard sentence over the air or telephone may do it.

There ought to be a central place in Sedalia to check on calamity rumors. There is one — the news department of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital. If the personnel in this department doesn't have the information at once they can check mighty quick to learn facts. Their mission is to "spike" a rumor until the facts are known. Staffers dispelled a great deal of uneasiness in Sedalia this morning for those who wanted reliable information about the "tornado" which was only the gusty winds blowing intermittently outside all morning.

Even if one suspects a tornado is coming his or her way the safest thing to do is not to waste time on a telephone call, but batten down your hatches. Remember a tornado's itinerary is about as uncertain as the movements of a chicken on the edge of a highway.

Perhaps a couple of hours silent meditation in the cellar by all of us would give the television and radio tubes a rest, not to mention our nerves, high blood pressure and other disturbances generated in this tension-afflicted world.

CHRISTMAS SCENE IN CALIFORNIA—Although the weather in the mid-west area the past few days has been of the balmy type, the situation in California around Kingsvale is quite different as can be seen in this picture. Kingsvale, which is located 16 miles west of Donner Summit on U.S. 40 in the Sierra Nevada mountains, was transformed into a breathtaking scene by the winter season's first heavy snowfall. The town is in the heart of a winter sports area. (AP Wirephoto.)

FEC Reports Morale Drop Above 38th

Army Survey Shows North Koreans Want UN to End War

TOKYO (AP)—An Allied intelligence survey says civilian morale in North Korea has dropped to "catastrophic depths" and "the majority welcome a U. N. offensive to terminate the war."

The survey, compiled by Gen. Mark Clark's Far East command, says an all-out red offensive is extremely remote, and nearly impossible from a supply standpoint.

The report makes these main points:

North Korea probably would collapse immediately without Russian and Chinese Communist backing. Troop morale at the Red front is good. But the soldiers are being fed at the best of near-starvation among civilians.

Near-famine conditions exist in many areas. Much of the civilian population is migratory, looking for food.

About 75 per cent of North Korea's food production is confiscated for the Red armies. Communist leaders maintain control only through iron-fisted police state methods.

Civilians have all but abandoned the cities. The Red capital, Pyongyang, has only 1-10th its pre-war population of 500,000.

North Korean workers receive the equivalent of 50 cents a day. An ordinary aspirin tablet costs a day's wages.

Farmers and other civilians are forcibly conscripted to repair roads, rails and fortifications.

The North Korean economy is virtually non-existent. Rear area industry is on a shoe-string basis.

North Korea can produce only small arms and light equipment—and that in limited amounts. Heavy equipment such as tanks, aircraft, artillery pieces and big shells must come from Russia or Red China.

The report was compiled to determine some of the broad effects of air power as employed in Korea. It was distributed by the Far East Air Forces.

Formosa Cleans Up Typhoon Wreckage

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Southern Formosa today dug itself out of the ruins left by the howling typhoon that lashed the island last week.

There has been no official estimate of the death toll. Newspapers report 500 to 600 killed, assuming that many fishing boats must have been lost.

Official reports indicate there were no casualties among Americans stationed here.

The typhoon ruined 95 per cent of the banana crop and 25 per cent of the pineapple crop.

Two other persons were injured in the accident near N W Cambridge, Mo., Nov. 8.

Boy Tells of Bottle Hunt That Brought Him $15,000

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy, interrupted in a planned journey around the country, yesterday told how a search for a whisky bottle led him to more than $15,000 cash.

Gerald Marcel Collier of Jonesville, Ill., and a companion, John Chupp, 17, of Lasalle, Ill., were taken from a Memphis-bound bus Saturday by Missouri Highway Patrolman R. C. Caldwell.

The boys had $14,132 with them, Caldwell said, and told of another $1,000 hidden in a sewer near their home. Part of the latter amount has been recovered by Lasalle authorities who are coming for the boys today.

Caldwell said young Collier told this story: He went to an abandoned house near Jonesville early this month to find a hidden bottle of whisky.

Local Soldiers Meet In Korea

Corporal Robert Kelley, 2111 East Seventh and Corporal Eugene Scotten, route 2, Green Ridge, met recently in central Korea. The two men, who took their basic training together at Camp Chaffee, Ark. and were sent overseas together, had not seen each other since they landed in Korea in late December, 1951. They are both serving with artillery units and will be rotated home soon.

Greek Regime Quits Today

King Appoints New Prime Minister Who Won In Sunday Vote

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The caretaker Greek government resigned today and King Paul immediately appointed Marshal Alexander Papagos, overwhelming victor in yesterday's parliamentary elections, prime minister. The new cabinet will be sworn in Wednesday noon.

Official figures from the interior ministry gave war hero Marshal Papagos' right wing Greek Rally party 241 seats in the new 300-member parliament to only 59 for the left-center coalition headed by Gen. Nicholas Plastiras. Papagos' party won the most seats in 1951 elections, too, but King Paul entrusted the government then to Plastiras' coalition.

During the election campaign the government had been under the caretaker hand of Premier Dimitrios Kisisopoulos, who quit today. Papagos, 60, with around 51 per cent of the popular vote, thus won the greatest parliamentary triumph since the smashing victory in 1928 of Eleutheros Venizelos. The Communists, although they got 12 per cent of the popular vote did not win a single parliamentary seat, according to the interior ministry's calculations.

Clark Denies Request For More Divisions

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark today flatly denied published reports he has asked for additional U. S. divisions to maintain offensive in Korea.

In reply to a query, Clark said such stories "are without foundation in fact."

The Chicago Sun-Times Saturday said Clark, U. S. Far East commander, had asked the Defense Department to send him three or four more American divisions.

Heavy Rains Fall In Northern Kansas

TOPEKA, Kas. (AP)—Drought-breaking rains ranging up to more than two inches fell in scattered sections of Kansas last night and this morning.

The heaviest falls were confined largely to north central and northeast Kansas. There was little relief from the prolonged dry weather in extreme western sections and most of southern Kansas.

It was the first moisture of consequence to fall in the state in almost three months.

Boy Tells of Bottle Hunt That Brought Him $15,000

While there he saw a hole leading to the attic, so he climbed up. He found a metal box with the money inside.

Joseph Pano, owner of the house, said yesterday he had no ill feeling toward young Collier.

"It was lucky for me that he did go into the house," Pano said, and added he didn't know the money was there.

Caldwell said Collier told him he later gave some money to neighbor youths, then took off last Thursday with Chupp for Memphis. They said they planned to buy a car there and go to California, and later Canada.

Predict Ike, HST Harmony

Congressmen Think They Will Agree At Tuesday Confab To Brief General

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders expect President-elect Eisenhower to read President Truman to agree at their conference here tomorrow on a statement telling the world America is united in its quest for peace.

The first meeting in months of Truman and the man who will succeed him brings together two historic figures who once worked as a team on foreign problems but who used harsh words to describe each other's views during the presidential campaign.

For this reason, some leaders in Congress who didn't want to be quoted said they believe a joint statement is clearly needed to reassure the free world there is no deep-seated division over U. S. foreign policies.

Eisenhower promised during the campaign to make Democrats "real partners" in working out basic foreign policies and tomorrow's meeting—designed to aid an orderly transition from the Democratic to the Republican regimes—will be regarded by some as the first test of his intentions.

The President-elect already has said he will not share in nor assume responsibility for any administration decisions before he is formally inaugurated Jan. 20.

For this reason, few expect him to do more than listen to a briefing on the international and domestic situation.

Tornado Rumor Just Big Blow

Some Local Schools Dismissed Today After Panic Takes Over Following First Reports of Storm Coming to City

Rumors about a non-existent tornado heading toward Sedalia caused near-panic in Sedalia this morning, brought about the dismissal of two kindergartens and Sacred Heart school and caused parents of numerous children in the public schools to go after their youngsters. The telephone company's switchboard took on a Christmas tree appearance as the lights flashed for hundreds of calls as the rumor swept over the city.

Those who heard it downtown passed the information along by word of mouth until there were almost none who had not heard it. Naturally, all who did get wind of the big blow became excited.

All Kinds of Versions There were all kinds of versions of the storm. "A tornado is heading this way

Former Classmates Have Quick Reunion Here, Plan Another

Next time Major General Roy R. Parker and Mrs. Parker come to Sedalia, Mrs. George Routsong, 1316 West Fourth, is going to plan things out beforehand—this time she just didn't have enough time.

Mrs. Routsong was reared in Tipton and General Parker was pastor there of the church she attended. Then he went into service and became chief of chaplains of the United States Army before retirement. So she knew General Parker pretty well. Then he became a college mate of hers.

All these years she had kept track of where they were because he was an important person and he was in the news, but when it came to corresponding the letters between the girls grew fewer and finally ceased.

Then Friday came the article in the paper when General Parker would be in Sedalia Sunday. Mrs. Routsong wanted to see him

Sedalia Native Killed In Crash Of Jet Fighter

Lieut. Comdr. Cecil L. McNeal, 36, Kansas City, who was born in Sedalia, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McNeal, was killed Saturday in the crash of a navy jet fighter plane near Prescott, Ariz.

His father, now deceased, was a salesman when the family lived here.

He was alone, on a routine flight from his home base at Glenview naval air station, in Illinois.

The navy informed the family that McNeal had radioed an air base near Prescott, requesting permission for an emergency landing.

Lieut. Comdr. McNeal had been living in Palatine, Ill., with his wife and two sons.

He had been a resident of Kansas City 28 years. He attended Garfield elementary school and Northeast High School and was graduated from Kansas State College in 1938 with a degree in electrical engineering.

He enlisted in the navy in 1940 and had served continuously since then.

He formerly was president of the Epworth league of the Independence Ave. Methodist Church. He was a member of Beta Kappa fraternity at Kansas State.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katherine McNeal and the sons Steven and Patrick McNeal; mother, Mrs. Rose McNeal Smith; a sister, Mrs. George R. Fulton and a brother, Keith E. McNeal, all of Kansas City.

Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia.

Acheson, Other UN Diplomats Meeting On India Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other top level U. N. diplomats met privately today to consider an Indian compromise proposal to end the Korean fighting.

The huddle began shortly before noon at U. N. headquarters. Other diplomats attending in addition to Acheson included Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, Halvard Lange, Norwegian foreign minister, and Paul Martin, Canadian minister of health.

These are all among the sponsors of a 21-nation resolution already before the U. N. urging a formal endorsement of the unified command's stand in the Panmunjon truce talks and appealing to the Communists to accept the terms of U. N. negotiators.

Shortly before the meeting began it was announced India would make public her four-page proposals this afternoon.

Volunteers Control Columbia Field Fire

COLUMBIA (AP)—A brush fire which burned over 1500 acres of farm land northeast of Columbia in the Browns Station area yesterday, was brought under control and extinguished late last night. More than 200 volunteers aided in a 10-hour fight to check spread of the flames.

There was no estimate of the damage.

to the Associated Press in Kansas City where an AP man said he had just talked with the weatherman and had received no such information.

From then on that data was given the callers at our office.

The AP man checked further, called the weather bureau in Kansas City again and asked for more details. He was told the weather forecast had been given out predicting a rain storm and added that no mention of a wind storm, much less a tornado or cyclone, had been given out.

The Democrat also called the Troop A headquarters of the Highway Patrol, which some had reported was the source of some information. The patrolmen read to the newsmen here his weather report. It, too, mentioned only rain and did not contain the words "wind," "tornado" or "cyclone."

Furthermore, the Associated Press, Weather Bureau and Highway Patrol all added that at no time in any of the messages had the names of any towns been given. The rain storm was to be "in this area" (naturally, meaning Kansas City area) according to the forecast.

Calls Go Everywhere The Chamber of Commerce said that it had been receiving calls steadily. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported that its switchboards were swamped and that all stations had to be filled to handle the load. The J. A. Lamy Manufacturing Company called for information, saying that all the women employees were excited and worried.

Radio station KDRQ asked if the rumors were true and was informed they were not. It then broadcast bulletins to that effect. Nevertheless, the rumor still flew up and down the length of the shopping district in town, with shop owners shouting to each other across the street, warning each other to "barricade" against the coming storm.

Schools Check Reports Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of Sedalia's schools, said that his office first learned of the rumors this morning when worried parents began calling the schools to ask about it. Many parents, he said, went to the schools and took their children home.

Hunt contacted the Democrat office and, learning that the rumor was baseless, informed all the public schools. He left instructions, however, that if any more parents appeared to take their children home, there would be no objection to it. Several parents did appear later to get their children home.

One businessman called his wife and told her to shut the doors and windows and find the safest corner of the basement and stay there.

In the meantime a second Negro, who had had as the officers went to the back of the building, dashed out the front door and headed west. A man across the street, watching the procedure, reported on the man who went out the front door and gave a description of him to the officers.

An old model car parked at Main and Montauk picked up the two fleeing Negroes and made good their getaway.

Woman Has Baby, Learns of Death Of Other Children

UKIAH, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Robert Part started home from the hospital with her newborn son, Dennis, anticipating happy cries from her three other children.

Her husband couldn't withhold bad news any longer so on the drive home yesterday he told her:

All three—Michael, 5, Caroline Ann 4 and Peggy Jo 2—and their grandfather were found frozen to death Saturday.

Grandfather Reginald Parker, 60, started to take the children to his home Friday. He missed a turn in a road in desolate country.

Saturday the bodies were found frozen in a ditch beside the wrecked jeep.

The precipitation moved into the west and north portions this morning and will reach the east and extreme east by tomorrow morning. Thunderstorms, occasionally downpours along with high winds are forecast for the northern sections of the state this afternoon.

Northwest Missouri had heavy downpours along with high winds yesterday afternoon and last night. Burlington Junction had "60. Fairfax 2.45; Maryville 1.73 and Oregon 1.44."

Sunday's temperatures soared to 81 at Columbia, a new high mark for the date, and to 77 at Kansas City where it tied the record. Other high readings were: Butler 80; Hannibal and Vichy 79; St. Louis and Joplin 78; West Plains and Malden 77, and Springfield and St. Joseph 75.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 2.5, no change.

Admits H-Bomb Research

AEC Refuses to Say Whether Experiment Included Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has officially disclosed that hydrogen bomb "research" was included in a test of nuclear weapons at heavily guarded Eniwetok Atoll.

But the commission stood pat today on its refusal to admit such a bomb had been exploded.

The commission, after issuing its terse announcement last night, also spoke of possible prosecution for those who have written letters home about seeing what they described as the world's first H-bomb blast.

Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize-winning scientist who was a key figure in the development of the atom bomb, said in Chicago he believed the AEC announcement meant the United States has successfully exploded its first H-bomb.

Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-NC), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, commented on the AEC announcement only by saying the "thermonuclear weapons research" at Eniwetok "came off on schedule."

He would not refer to the tests as hydrogen bomb experiments. However, "thermonuclear weapon research" is the scientists' way of designating work on an H-bomb.

In a formal announcement, AEC Chairman Gordon Dean said only that the 1952 series of atomic weapons development tests had been concluded at Eniwetok Atoll; that the program included "experiments contributing to thermonuclear weapons research," and that the scientists "expressed satisfaction."

But what reporters asked, about the swelling volume of letters coming back from ship crew members and others attached to the joint AEC-military task force which conducted the 1952 program?

The letters, widely published in the United States, described an explosion on Nov. 1 which, to them, seemed to transcend any previous man-made detonation.

They told of a mile-wide island melting away under the blast and awful heat, of a cloud column climbing twice as high as any known conventional atomic cloud, of damage to a building 18 miles away.

In a written answer to questions which had been accumulating on his desk, Dean said:

1. Information would be limited to that contained in the formal announcement "because any amplification might give aid to potential enemies." No further announcements will be made.

2. The commission is "concerned" over the letters.

3. "Investigations are under way leading to possible disciplinary action or prosecution for violation of task force regulations or the law" in connection with the letters.

Even before Dean's disclosure of the investigation, demands were beginning to appear in congressional quarters for an inquiry. Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), member of the joint atomic energy committee, said he wanted to know if security had been violated.

Last night Bricker added that he had known all along that H-bomb research was included in the Eniwetok weapons test, but said he was in no position to know if an H-bomb was exploded. Bricker also contrasted the secrecy surrounding current tests with the open door policy of the 1946 Bikini atomic tests.

The Atomic Energy Act carries the stiffest of penalties for violations of security—including death, life imprisonment, 20 years imprisonment or $20,000 fine or both.

Letters which have appeared so far seem to be of the ordinary letter-to-home type, telling in an awed and gee-whiz manner of an amazing spectacle.

The danger could be that the letters, if accurate, contain unintentional tidbits of scientific information of major value in guessing how good the United States' newest and mightiest weapon might be.

The act says it "shall be the policy of the commission to control the dissemination of restricted data in such manner as to assure the common defense and security." Presumably it is under this broad provision that the "task force regulations" mentioned by Dean were set up. Disciplinary action, not necessarily involving prosecution, could be taken under such regulations

A woman who has an electric blanket on her bed, although it isn't attached, got cold in the night so she reached down, got hold of the plug and put it in the socket in the wall. Pretty soon she was just as nice and warm as could be and went on to sleep.

The next morning she got up and found the blanket was not heated at all — she had plugged it in all right, but she had forgotten to flip the switch to turn the heat on.

STEVE'S face went flabby. I sprang out of the chair and whipped a kick at his Adam's apple. I missed—instead landed with a loud plock! on his chin. Flat—he went flat on his back, his chin up, his eyes glassy. I dived down on my knees, squatted, reached backward with my trussed-up arms and got a grip on the gun butt. I scrambled to my feet.

I twisted my arms as hard as I could to my left, and just managed to line the pistol along my side. It was very awkward, but I had it pointed straight ahead. I heard feet overhead.

I beat it down the stairs and back into the rumpus room. I pressed close to the wall beside the doorway. The footsteps came down. Torchy came into the doorway, passed me. He stopped. A gasp started as I jabbed him with the "gun."

"Quiet!" I gritted. "Put your hands up slow."

His hands went up. I could feel him quivering. "I've killed Steve and I don't care what I do to you. If any of your pals try anything on me, this .38 is going to make a hole in your back. Where's the girl?"

"S-second floor."

"Okay, Torchy, up we go. If you're lying, you're going to hear the loudest noise you ever—"

"Third floor," he said hurriedly. I jabbed the muzzle in harder. He groaned. "Don't try that again, I said, 'it's dangerous. Who's with the girl?'"

"Nobody. Door's locked."

"Where are all your friends?"

"Second floor—the main room."

"Okay, Torchy, put your hands down slow. Stick them inside your belt—into your pants. Keep them there. We're going upstairs nice and easy. We're going past the main room without any talking. If anybody says anything to you, say you'll be right down. Get it?"

I jabbed him again.

"I get it."

We reached the third floor. There was a slight noise above us. I jabbed Torchy hard. "Who?"

I whispered savagely. He shook his head, looking genuinely bewildered.

WE kept going up. My eyes reached the top stair level—there was a man down the hall bending over a doorknob. He turned, straightened up. He was holding a screwdriver. It was the man with the nose.

"Don't bother—Torchy has the key," I said, calmly as I could.

We walked toward him. I kept the pace as slow as possible, trying to think, but all I could think was I couldn't handle two men with my arms behind me. The man's face went through a rapid commotion—he was trying to figure out the setup. He couldn't see the gun I had in Torchy's side, but he could see something was wrong.

I didn't know this guy, didn't know whether he was a menace or not, but I had to do it.

I stepped back a pace from Torchy, twisted my side toward the other man and pulled the trigger, fast.

The explosion in that narrow space was enormous.

Slowly, gradually, as if supported by the blast of air, the man leaned forward and spread down over the floor.

"Quick, unlock the door!" I jabbed at Torchy.

He tumbled a key ring out of his pocket and rattled through it, trembling.

There was a rush of feet down below, a splatter of voices.

Footsteps were clattering up toward the second floor. "What's going on up there?" somebody yelled.

I crouched low as I could, aiming the pistol at Torchy's belly.

"Say he ran out the back door. Go get him."

"He ran out the back door!"

Torchy growled. "Go get him."

"Go get him yourself, you jerk," said a disgusted voice, and there was an indignant mutter lower down, and footsteps tramped away.

The door went in—Torchy gasped and staggered backward—a pink-wrapped swirl of fury charged out into us.

"Midge, it's Morrison, take it easy," I buzzed at her, jamming my shoulder against her, my bruised skull twinging.

She glared at me, at Torchy, turned startled eyes on the twitching body on the floor.

"You certainly took your time getting here."

"Thanks. Get this rope off me." She tugged at the knot. "Who tied this?" she panted.

"Let it alone—we've got to move. Torchy, down the same way we came up. Midge, you follow right behind me. If anything happens, run out the front door into the woods—they'll never find you."

Cookie stood at the sink, wiping a big aluminum pot. My entrance seemed to do something to him. He gave a howl like a kicked dog, rocketed around and plucked out the back door, hugging the pot against his chest.

"Run!" I jabbed Torchy.

Torchy spluttered, but Midge grabbed up a bread knife and pinked Torchy in the rear, and we made good time out the door.

I TOOK my troupe about 20 yards straight in, then cut sharply to the right for about 20 more. I listened, while Midge slashed the rope off my wrists. There was noise, all right, but the lugs no more knew our location in the dark than we knew theirs.

"Put your hands behind you, pal," I said to Torchy.

"You heard him," Midge waved the big knife at his nose.

Torchy dodged. "That's a knife you got there."

I trusted up Torchy's wrists exactly the way he'd accented "ated me."

"Where'd you learn the fancy knife-work, Midge?" I said admiringly.

"My parents always taught me the proper way to use the silver-ware," she said stiffly.

Hatfields Recall Wedding at 50th Anniversary Observance at Syracuse

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hatfield of Syracuse, told the story of their wedding at a gathering given for them on their golden wedding anniversary, which was on Oct. 28.

Miss Edna J. Fowler and Mr. Hatfield were married in Kansas City and returned to their home in Syracuse the same day—they got back sooner than they were expected so there was no reception party at the train to meet them, and that was the custom in those days.

It happened that a neighbor had come to town in a farm wagon and it was a joyous ride they had back to the farm—there was no seat in the wagon, and the neighbor was using a woven bottom chair for the seat.

The Keweenaw came to rescue by providing a native piece of lumber on which they bumped along all the way home.

When they arrived at the home of the bride's parents they found big preparations being made for the wedding—the next day. There was much activity with the dressing of chickens and making homemade yeast light bread.

The bride soon assumed her duties as a housewife by patching a pair of overalls for her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield made their home on a farm five miles south of Syracuse, part of which was owned by Mr. Hatfield, and at a later date he bought the adjoining land. They spent 15 years in Sedalia where Mr. Hatfield was employed at the Missouri Pacific shops 20 years. After his retirement they returned to the farm and three years ago sold the farm and bought a home in Syracuse.

They are parents of four daughters: Mrs. M. C. Steele, Batavia, N. Y., who was unable to be present for the anniversary; Anna of the home, Mrs. R. W. Chapman and Mrs. Irwin Knoles of Syracuse.

Relatives with them on the evening of their golden wedding were: William Fowler of Warsaw, Jimmy Dean Byrnes of Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Chapman and Marion of Syracuse.

PTA Education Classes Learn Of New Pupil Grading System

In observance of American Education Week, the Parent Education classes of all the Parent-Teacher units in Sedalia held a joint meeting in the Horace Mann school auditorium on Friday, Nov. 14.

The speaker for the afternoon was George Heltzell, superintendent of the Clinton schools, who spoke on "What's New in Education." He told of the very newest idea in grading the elementary child, not with a grade card, but with parent teacher conferences held twice a year. This is the system used in the Clinton elementary schools and Mr. Heltzell pointed out the many advantages to the system. He also said that the Parent-Teacher organization had done much in helping the teachers and educational directors in getting this system in operation.

Mr. Heltzell held the attention of his more than 100 parents and teachers with his humor and wit throughout the afternoon. Accompanying Mr. Heltzell from Clinton was Mrs. Mary Reynolds, supervisor of the elementary schools in Clinton.

Preceding the meeting a covered dish luncheon was held in the cafeteria. The tables were cleverly decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Invocation was given by Mrs. Elmer Maune.

Special guests for the luncheon included the superintendent of schools, Heber U. Hunt, Sedalia schools, and all of the principals of Sedalia schools: Miss Edyth Couey, Broadway; P. A. Sillers, Horace Mann; George Thompson, Jefferson; Jack Delph, Mark Twain; Miss Bessie Perkins, Washington; Miss Frances Garman, Whittier and Forrest Drake, Smith-Cotton.

Other special guests included Mrs. Kurman Riley, newly appointed magazine chairman for the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. Terry Files county council president.

After a devotional given by Mrs. Homer Gwinn of Washington School, special music was presented by Mrs. John Dick, music teacher at Horace Mann School. She presented the combined second grades which did some folk dances and an octet from the seventh grade which sang two numbers.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of the chairman of the Parent-Education classes in the individual units Mrs. David Bryan, Broadway; Mrs. Sam Oliver Thomas, Washington; Mrs. Ed Bates and L. E. Sheridan, Whittier; Mrs. Elmer Maune, Smith-Cotton; Mrs. Harold Painter, president of Horace Mann, PTA.

Norval Tolle led the group in a round table discussion.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party at the Bryson school house on the night of Dec. 4, for all members of the club and their families.

The highlight of the afternoon's program was a book review by Mrs. Carl Johnson. She reviewed the book, "Mr. Anonymous," by Herbert Cornuelle in a very interesting manner. The book is a biography of William Volker, philanthropist of Kansas City.

Tornado Hits Upstate Town, Injures Two

HOPKINS, Mo. (U.S.A.)—Damage inflicted by a Sunday evening tornado on this northern Missouri town of 800 was estimated today at $125,000.

The estimate was made by Mayor S. K. Mendenhall after a survey of wrecked business houses on the main street and residences.

The mayor said at least half of all buildings and homes in the town of more than 800 people were damaged.

The Barnard Street part of the business district was almost wiped out. Only two people were reported injured.

Barnard Street was nearly deserted at the time the storm struck. Had it arrived at the same hour on Saturday it would have found hundreds of farmers and shoppers in the area.

The first structure hit by the funnel was the Rosecrans Chevrolet Co. brick and steel building put up last year at a cost of $70,000.

It flattened this building, crushing eight cars including six new ones. The twister then went across Highway 27 and the railroad tracks and demolished the electric power substation. Mayor Mendenhall said this quirk of the storm probably prevented a disastrous fire.

It left no live electric wires in the wreckage.

From the air it appeared the twister had hit Burlington Junction, where three homes and a farm house, and then traveled for 17 miles before it hit the ground about a mile and a half southwest of Hopkins.

The town, of 800 population, was left without electric power and water. Hopkins is just a mile from the Iowa border.

Heavy rain and hail accompanied the tornado as its roared northeastward across Nodaway County. Three houses were damaged at Burlington Junction, 20 miles southwest of here, before the storm reached Hopkins.

The injured were Mrs. Carrie Gray, 90, and her daughter, Miss Mabel Gray, 62, whose home was demolished. They were admitted to St. Francis Hospital at Maryville, Mo.

Aid was rushed here from Maryville and Bedford, Ia., and volunteers worked all night by the light of a Bedford fire truck's searchlight cleaning up debris.

Five hundred pounds of dry ice was brought from St. Joseph to save meat in refrigeration units of the stores.

Mayor Klita Mendenhall and Fire Chief Landon Wallace said it was a miracle that no one was killed.

The only thing that saved us was the fact that the storm struck on a nice Sunday afternoon when the stores were closed and many people were out driving," the mayor explained. "It was just one of those things for which we can all be thankful."

There was no estimate of the damage, but officials agreed it would run into many thousands of dollars.

During the night civilian defense workers and volunteers worked in a spattering rainstorm to clear away the debris from stores and homes that fell victim to the fury of the wind.

Five homes were wrecked. A motor car showroom and garage, carpenter shop, two restaurants and a general store were virtually demolished.

Part of the school roof was ripped away and large numbers of windows were shattered.

None of the residents reported seeing a funnel-shaped cloud, but all agreed there was a noise like the roar of a freight train as the storm struck.

Marshall Curtis Webb said there was no panic among the residents.

Humane Society Solves Stray Dog Problem

ST. LOUIS (U.S.A.)—Suburban Bridge Terrace's problem of four stray dogs, which have been living at the community's expense for three months, has been solved.

Fritz K. Grolock, president of the Humane Society of Missouri, offered Saturday to have his organization take over the dogs, try to find homes for them, and, if unsuccessful in that, to have them destroyed painlessly.

The dogs were among those picked up during a drive against strays.

Most St. Louis County communities have contracts with the Animal Protective Association of Missouri for disposal of such dogs. Bridge Terrace didn't have one.

But Mayor Robert E. Toler said enough money to pay for such service.

He also didn't think the town had the right to shoot the dogs.

Sabres Bag Five MIGs, One Possible

SEOUL (U.S.A.)—U. S. Sabre jets today shot down at least five Communist MIGs over northwest Korea the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported. The series of air battles produced the 21st American ace of the Korean War.

A sixth destruction claim is pending confirmation. In addition, one MIG was listed as probably destroyed and one damaged. Allied losses, if any, were not announced.

The new ace is Col. Royal Baker of McKinney, Tex. He got one MIG today to raise his total to four MIGS and one LA-9 propeller-driven fighter destroyed.

Along the ground, Red Chinese artillery threw a thunderous hour-long barrage at blood-soaked pin-point hill and Rocky Mount. It may have been a prelude to an after-dark Communist infantry assault.

Allied artillery roared in answer as United Nations forces sought out the big Red guns which were dropping a hail of exploding steel on Allied positions in the Sniper Ridge sector of the Central Front.

The artillery duel shook the entire Kumbhwa Valley.

Communist guns started slamming 1,200 shells an hour at the entrenched South Korean defenders at 11 a. m. The barrage continued as night fell.

American officers said they observed considerable Red troop movement in the valley at the northern end of Sniper Ridge—from where Communists have launched previous night infantry attacks against Pinpoint and Rocky Point.

Latest reports said Southern Korean defenders were withstanding the barrage.

The terrific artillery duel broke a short-lived lull all along the black, well-protected 155-mile battle-front, hit today by freezing cold and snow.

Chinese infantry drives in the Sniper Ridge sector had dwindled to almost nothing in the 12 hours before the big guns took over.

In the fighting there yesterday, the Chinese launched three drives against Allied positions at Pinpoint, Hill, the key terrain of Sniper Ridge. None of the assaults was greater than two platoons (80 men) in strength. All were beaten back by South Korean defenders.

Also on the Central Front, Eighth Army troops assaulted Chinese-held Jackson Heights east of the Chonwon Valley yesterday but the drive failed. The U. N. soldiers were forced to withdraw after one hour and 40 minutes of fighting.

Medical Chief Calls Civilian Doctors Greedy

WASHINGTON (U.S.A.)—The surgeon general of the Navy spoke up today against what he called the "avarice" of civilian doctors and dentists unwilling to serve with the military forces.

Rear Adm. Lamont Pugh said an address prepared for the annual meeting of the association of military surgeons that the main objection made by "prima donna" doctors against military service is a financial one.

For such men, he said, the main attraction of civilian practice as opposed to military "is simply a matter of easier, quicker and bigger money—avarice."

Saying there has been a tire-some "hue and cry" that military service must be more attractive for physicians and dentists, Pugh commented:

"During my sojourn at the combat front in Korea this past summer I failed to detect evidence of any special effort being made on the part of anyone to make the service more attractive to the soldiers and marines who were fighting, bleeding and dying in the heat and dust on a barren Korean hillside."

Pugh went on to say that "it seems to me that something has happened to the medical profession and I, for one, look upon it with distinct misgiving and genuine concern," he added:

"There would appear to be grounds for wondering if the doctor isn't on his way to becoming a heretic of the doctrine that it is more blessed to give than to receive."

US May Extend Waterfowl Date For Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (U.S.A.)—A nine-day extension of the waterfowl hunting season is in the works for Missouri duck and goose hunters.

I. T. Bode, state conservation director, got word today that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service plans to grant a nine-day extension on the Missouri season, starting Dec. 14.

That would make up for time lost to hunters when Gov. Forrest Smith banned all hunting and fishing because of the extreme fire hazard in Missouri fields and woods. The ban was imposed Nov. 1 and was lifted at noon Nov. 10.

The regular waterfowl season this year was set for Oct. 20 through Dec. 13—a 55-day season and the longest in recent years.

Under the extension, the season would continue through Monday, Dec. 22.

Although the extension apparently would not be official until the formal announcement by the wildlife service, conservation commission officials said there seemed no reason to doubt that the extra time would be granted.

Rainfall Breaks Iowa Fall Drouth

DES MOINES (U.S.A.)—Iowa's worst fall drouth of record was at an end today with drenching rains which brought moisture ranging up to 5½ inches at Osceola in Southern Iowa and 5 inches at North English in the eastern part of the state.

Business Leaders Disagree Which Best--Office or Shop

NEW YORK (U.S.A.)—Who's better off—the white collar employee in the front office or the production worker in the shop?

Business leaders disagree. Some say the accountant, bookkeeper, stenographer and filing clerk never had it so good. Others point out the higher pay of the tool and die maker or the man behind the turret lathe. According to this school of thought the white collar man is industry's poor relation.

Ike Deciding Repatriation Announcement

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower probably will decide this week—after conferences with President Truman and GOP congressional leaders—whether to make a pre-inauguration statement on repatriation of Korean war prisoners.

Eisenhower, spending his last day of vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club, flies to Washington tomorrow for a history-making session with Truman at the White House.

On Wednesday he will meet in New York with a quartet of Republicans who will have key roles in the GOP-controlled 83rd Congress, convening Jan. 3.

In Manhattan, the general will confer first with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, slated to be speaker of the House. They will discuss plans for a legislative program.

The general also has conferences scheduled Wednesday with Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who may serve as Senate majority leader, and Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. Wiley, in line to head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is a delegate to the United Nations General assembly now meeting in New York.

All four GOP leaders probably will get a report from Eisenhower on his conference tomorrow with Truman.

That session will deal with international and domestic problems and with the transfer of primary responsibility for handling them from the Democrats to the Republicans.

One matter Truman reportedly wants to discuss with Eisenhower is the delicate issue of repatriation of Korean War prisoners. Wiley also is planning to talk that over with the President-elect, and the subject may come up when Eisenhower meets with Taft, Martin and Bridges.

Wiley already has urged the general to make a public statement endorsing the present policy of insisting on voluntary repatriation of prisoners of war as a provision of any Korean armistice.

Truman and Acheson are said to be hoping, too, for an Eisenhower statement supporting the government's current policy on the repatriation issue. They reportedly are prepared to tell the general it would strengthen this country's hand in dealing with other nations at the U. N. Assembly.

There have been proposals that Eisenhower name a liaison man to sit in at the U. N. sessions. Indications have been he is against doing this, but there has been no clue here as to how he feels about issuing a statement on the repatriation issue.

Eisenhower will also hold separate conferences at his New York headquarters Wednesday with Jack Porter, GOP national committee man from Texas, and Louis K. Gough, national commander of the American Legion.

Scheduled to come in together for another meeting with the general that day are Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who was Eisenhower's political chief of staff during the campaign, and Herbert Brownell Jr., an Eisenhower adviser and former chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Additional important conferences are being arranged for Thursday and Friday in New York.

Some of those sessions may deal with the general's forthcoming trip to Korea—and possibly may bring a decision on when he will depart for the war zone.

England Returns To Plain Sausage
LONDON (AP)—The best tasting sausages Britain can remember in years were just too good to last. The Food Ministry discovered that high quality meat was brought in from New Zealand and sold off rations to butchers who gave their sausages 15 per cent more meat content than the government standard.

The ministry felt the private imports—spurred by demand for the better-tasting sausages—would increase so much it would interfere with the government's bulk purchases of meat, the country's chief source of supply. So the ministry clamped licenses on the imports.

Many Businessmen Feel Space Islands Needed for Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some top-ranking businessmen little given to fantasy are so impressed with prospects of man-made islands circling in outer space that many today believe such a project should be financed for defense purposes.

Several members of the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Department, made up of executives of some 100 large corporations, said at the council's closing session at Sea Island, Ga., yesterday that a recent off-the-record report by an Army guided missile expert had "excited a lot of interest."

British Women Wish For Electric Whip

SUTTON COLDFIELD, England (AP)—The good housewives of this Midlands town want to bring back flogging—but with tender thoughts for the whip-wielders. They suggested today that electric punishers handle the task.

A housewives' league told the district's member of Parliament that corporal punishment for criminals is necessary to end the recent wave of blackjack crimes. "I'm not mechanically minded," said League Chairman Mrs. Dorothy Woodland, "but surely scientists can devise something. If they can invent an electric chair, I am sure they could invent an electric flogger."

Eight Children Left Orphans by Traffic Death of Parents

SEATTLE (AP)—Eight Seattle children were left orphans today by the traffic death of their father and mother. A 16-year-old girl left as nominal head of the family was trying to make plans to keep the family under one roof.

The parents, Halvor A. Byron, 38, a longshoreman, and his wife Josephine, 35, were killed early yesterday by an automobile as they walked along a Seattle road.

The surviving children are Beverly, 16, and Robert, 17, who left home Friday night for San Diego to receive boot camp training in the Navy, and these younger children:

Harry, 14; Darrell, 13; Flora, 12; Keith, 11; Jonny, 6, and Vickie, 5.

Coroner John P. Brill Jr. said a chaplain at San Diego said he would aid in getting a leave or discharge for Robert.

Meanwhile, assured of aid by relatives, Beverly said she hopes to keep the family together. How she will go about it, she didn't know.

DeBerry formerly was commander of the seventh district of the Missouri department of the Legion, comprising counties in Central Missouri. He was first vice commander of the Marshall post.

DeBerry was a veteran of the World War I. He was a salesman for a St. Joseph home appliance company.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Mon., Nov. 17, 1952 3

"But he made one great mistake—he took us into a foolish war. And for that we will never forgive him."

There is an elderly guide in the palaces of the Doges in Venice whose work has given him a long view of history.

"America must become the Rome of the year 2000," he said. "It is her destiny, and she cannot avoid it. Only the United States can set up a system of order in the world that will let other nations work out their own pattern of life in peace."

"Russia?"—he said, and made a face. "The Communists will fail there because of one thing: They are against human nature itself."

KU vs Mizzou Will Settle 2nd In Big 7

KANSAS CITY, (P)—One of the nation's traditional games—Kansas versus Missouri—and two other clashes will settle the Big Seven Conference football standings for 1952 Saturday.

In the other two battles, league leading Oklahoma is scheduled to win its fifth successive undisputed title at the expense of Nebraska's capable Cornhuskers at Norman, and Kansas State and Iowa State will meet at Manhattan.

Colorado, which completed its Big Seven schedule in a 34-14 victory over Kansas State last Saturday, has a league record of two victories, two ties and two losses and can't be moved from fifth place in the standings, no matter what happens. The Buffaloes are idle this week.

Oklahoma brought its conference mark to four victories and one tie by mauling the Missouri Tigers, 47-7, at Norman. Missouri now has four victories and one loss in the league.

The Kansas Jayhawks, who can gain a tie for second place by beating Missouri, won their seventh game against two losses, beating Oklahoma A. & M. 12-7 on a fourth quarter touchdown. They have a 3-2 conference mark.

Nebraska outgained Minnesota decisively but was unable to stop the Gophers' Paul Giel, the Big Ten team winning 13-7.

Although Oklahoma is considered a lead-pip cinch over Nebraska, there's a possibility of every team except Colorado shifting in the standings Saturday.

- Here's what could happen:
- 1—Oklahoma clinch the title by beating Nebraska.
 - 2—Missouri win the title by beating Kansas and Oklahoma losing to Nebraska.
 - 3—Nebraska tie Oklahoma for the title by beating Oklahoma and Missouri losing to Kansas.
 - 4—Kansas gain a tie with Missouri for second place by beating Missouri.

Kansas State and Iowa State, both losers of all five conference games, play for sixth and seventh places.

Oklahoma jumped on Missouri early and often with Merrill Green leading the scoring with three touchdowns. Coach Don Faurot said yesterday that Missouri definitely lost the services of three top hands for the Kansas game because of injuries. They are Jim Martin, defensive guard; Bill Fessler, punter, and Mark Stein, offensive end.

Charlie Hoag, Kansas great offensive halfback, was unable to play against Oklahoma A. & M. because of injuries sustained in the Kansas State game, but Coach Jules Sikes expects to have him ready for some service Saturday.

BIG SEVEN BITS: Coach Sikes of Kansas said Oklahoma A. & M. was the "second strongest team we've played this season." Oklahoma University the toughest, of course. Kansas' defense gets most credit for the victory. It stopped the Aggies on the one-yard line after Kansas' winning touchdown... and stopped 'em earlier on the six and nine yard lines...safety Hal Cleavinger and guard Bob Hantla were Jayhawk stars for the second successive week.

Missouri's halfback Jim Hook played his usual fine game against Oklahoma...the Tigers returned to the spread offensive and got seven of its passes intercepted.

Verny Switzer, Kansas State's great defensive back, returned a punt 64 yards for a touchdown that had the Wildcats ahead 14-0 in the second quarter...Carroll Hardy led Colorado with two touchdowns... Iowa State had an open date.

The standings:

Only Valley, Jewell Still Have Grid Games

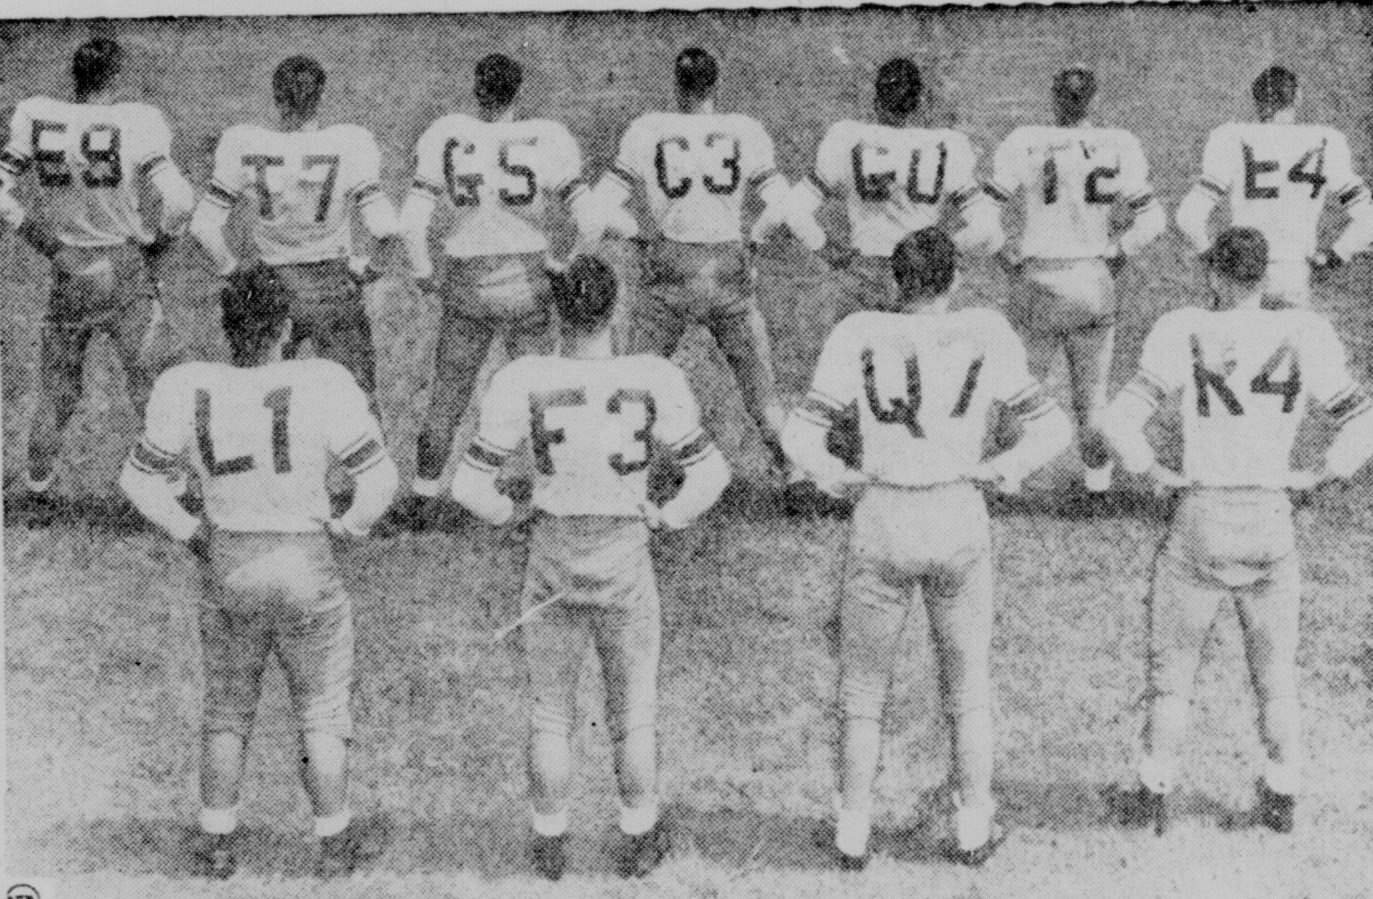

KANSAS CITY (P)—Only the Missouri Valley Vikings and the William Jewell Cardinals, MCAU champions and runners-up respectively, have games remaining on their 1952 football schedules.

Missouri Valley will meet California Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo Friday night and William Jewell plays at Ouachita (Ark.) College Saturday.

15 From the '51 Cotton Bowl Tilt Back on Jan. 1st

DALLAS, (P)—Ever heard of a homecoming football game for both teams? The Cotton Bowl game Jan. 1 is going to be pretty close to it.

Tennessee and Texas played in the 1951 Cotton Bowl game. Tennessee and Texas will play in the 1953 Cotton Bowl game. Fifteen of the men on the two squads in 1951 will return. Eight are from Tennessee.

Tennessee has Andy Kozar, its great fullback who as a sophomore put on such a show in 1951 in leading the Volunteers to a 20-14 victory over Texas that he was named outstanding player of the day. Kozar was injured last week in the game with Florida and isn't expected to play any more with Tennessee this season but is due to be back by the time of the Cotton Bowl game.

Texas players returning include backs Gib Dawson and T. Jones and end Tom Stohlhandske and guard Harley Sewell.

Tennessee was invited to the Cotton Bowl Friday and quickly accepted. Texas won its place in the New Year's day classic Saturday by beating Texas Christian 14-7 and clinching at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship.

The conference champion is host team in the Cotton Bowl but if two teams tie the title the one that beat the other in regular season play gets the bowl spot. Tennessee Methodist is the only school left that could tie Texas for the championship. Texas beat

Sports Roundup--

Notre Dame Has Sent Most Players Into the Pro Ranks

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (P)—This should settle some arguments: The official National Football League encyclopedia says that Notre Dame has sent more players into the professional circuit than any other school, 151, and that Minnesota, Ohio State and Pittsburgh follow in that order with 82, 74 and 71, respectively.

You probably wouldn't guess the fifth-place school in a dozen tries—Marquette, with 58 money graduates.

Speaking strictly from hearsay, there apparently will be no great popular demand for Sugar Ray Robinson to stick with the stake and abandon his ring career permanently. A local critic who caught the middleweight champion's show commented, "I know where the old jokes went—somebody sold them to Robinson."

Eddie Stankovic's disclosure that he has the right to hire and fire his coaches indicates that the Cardinal pilot holds one of the strongest hands in the managerial guild.

Ole Miss Dumping of Terps Wins Trip to Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (P)—Mississippi blended a newspaper clipping, a shattering defensive line and Jimmy Lear's deadly passes into a football explosion that ripped mighty Maryland, 21-14, and lured a Sugar Bowl date with Georgia Tech.

Ole Miss pushed 461 yards over and through unbeaten Maryland's defense, tops in the nation until

Monday's Football Wash

NEW YORK (P)—Monday's football wash, but the ironing was done on Saturday:

That was the day it was proved it takes all sorts of things to win football games—21 miles per hour winds, fumbles that aren't accidents and players the coaches didn't know they had.

Speaking of the latter—

At Army, Bill Purdie is better known as a sprinter and hurdler on the track team. As for football, until three weeks ago he was just a member of the junior varsity. Saturday fullback Bill scored the touchdown in the last 44 seconds to give Army a 14-13 upset victory over Penn.

At Southern Methodist, Sam Stollenwerk has been nothing more than the No. 3 tailback all year with conversion kicking his main freight. Thrown into the tailback pile, general gained 209 yards, scored three touchdowns, kicked three conversions and led SMU to a 27-17 triumph.

At Iowa, sore-shouldered Burt Britzmann got his chance only when quarterback Paul Kemp broke his leg in the second quarter of the northwestern game. Burt proceeded to score one touchdown, pass for two others and lead his mates to a 39-14 upset rout of the Wildcats.

The 21-mile-an-hour wind blew up at Fort Worth and, indirectly, cost fired up Texas Christian another of its many upset triumphs over a favored Texas team... with TCU leading 7-0 in the last half, Ray McKown of TCU had one of his punts caught in the stiff wind, partially blocked by Texas guard Marvin Leath, and converted into the first of two touchdowns which gave the Longhorns a close-squeak 14-7 triumph.

The much-maligned fumble is no longer an accident or a break, it seems, but a purposeful offensive weapon which coaches are now using to pull out victories.

"We tackled him a lot more than ever before, hoping to dislodge the ball," said Michigan State's Coach Biggie Munn after the Spartans had beaten Notre Dame, 21-3.

The Spartans dislodged the ball from Irish hands and recovered the loose ball seven times, two of these recoveries leading to touchdowns... Munn said his boys practiced all week on ways of jarring the ball loose from the enemy.

Sniffles Delay Bout

BOSTON (P)—A heavy cold suffered by Lauro Salas, of Mexico, former world lightweight boxing champion of Mexico has forced postponement of his fight with Boston's hard-hitting Tommy Collins from tonight to Dec. 8 in Boston Garden.

Holdup Man Shoots Cab Driver In Knee

EAST ST. LOUIS (P)—A holdup man, angered by a cab driver who stopped at a railroad crossing to let a train pass, shot the driver in the knee and stole the cab early Sunday.

John Arcobasso, 37, of St. Louis, said the man, who he had picked up in Downtown St. Louis, took $28 from him at gunpoint before the train incident.

Arcobasso told police the man said "I ought to kill you," shot once, and forced him from the vehicle. Police found the cab abandoned later.

We have been asked what became of the return punt in football, and hanged if we know. It used to be a mighty effective play at times, especially when a team had a lead and was interested only in holding on to it. Made the other time coaches began to realize that a two or three-touchdown lead didn't mean anything any longer, and that they had better keep that ball and try for a couple more.

Ted Schroeder is going to the Davis Cup matches in Australia, but not as a player this trip. Ted enjoys tremendous popularity down under, and he will write and broadcast the matches. Local bookies, by the way, are offering 3-1 against an American victory.

College Football to Close This Week With Old Rivalry

NEW YORK (P)—All the hopes and disappointments, fumbles and fancy plays, surprises and expectations come to an end for most of the college football teams this week with traditional—and important—games scheduled around the country.

With two of the major bowls—the Cotton and Sugar—already set for their New Year's Day games, attention will be focused on the outfits that have a chance to go

Make or Break Week at Hand For Pro Teams

NEW YORK (P)—This is make or break week for at least two of the National Football League teams.

The Philadelphia Eagles, tied with the New York Giants for second place in the American Conference, tackle the pace—setting Browns at Cleveland Sunday, and need a victory to remain in the running. The Giants and Eagles trailed Paul Brown's club by a game.

The Los Angeles Rams, back on the winning trail after a poor start, play host to the San Francisco 49ers with a triumph also necessary if the defending champions are to have a chance to retain their title in the league playoff. The Rams are a game to the rear of the 49ers and the surging Detroit Lions in the National Conference.

San Francisco and Detroit each has a 6-2 record along with the Browns, who took undisputed possession of first place in the American division yesterday when the Green Bay Packers upset the New York Giants, 17-3. The defeat dropped the Giants into a tie for second place with the Philadelphia Eagles, who beat the shipping Chicago Cardinals, 10-7, by cashing in on two fumbles recovered by veteran end Pete Pihos.

The Browns remained at the top of their division by the narrow margin of one point—a 29-28 decision over the Pittsburgh Steelers in a game in which three league marks were established.

The 49ers also had a close call before downing Washington's Redskins, 23-17, but the Lions romped to a 43-13 verdict over the orphan Dallas Texans. The Rams turned the National Conference into a four-team affair by passing the Chicago Bears crazy, 40-24.

Lou Groza set two of the league records in the Browns—Steelers game. He booted two field goals to run his seasonal output to 14, one more than his own mark. He also kicked three extra points to run his total for the year to 2 and his consecutive string record to 94.

With Otto Graham tossing the ball for two touchdowns to lead the Browns' to victory and Jim Finks completing four touchdowns, the two clubs attempted 89 passes, one more than the record set by Washington and Los Angeles in 1949.

Rookie Babe Parilli, former Kentucky star, scored one touchdown and passed for the other as the Packers pulled the upset of the day. For the first time this season, the Giants failed to score a touchdown.

Four Major Teams On Unbeaten List

NEW YORK (P)—Four major colleges—Georgia Tech, Michigan State, Southern California and UCLA—head the list of 21 unbeaten and untied teams today.

The weekend's action dropped two more from the dwindling list when Mississippi took a beating from Mississippi and Iowa Wesleyan was downed by Buena Vista.

Ten of the teams have completed their seasons including Peru (Neb.) Teachers, which heads the nation with 10 victories. Georgia Tech has nine, while Michigan State, Southern California and UCLA each have eight.

Northeastern (Okla.) State is among the unbeaten, untied schools with nine victories. It has completed its schedule.

Conway of Jewell Back in Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (P)—Al Conway of William Jewell (Mo.) has regained his position as collegiate football's leading scorer with 121 points.

The hard running halfback topped the list two weeks ago, but dropped to second last week. On Friday night he went on a scoring rampage as his team walloped Central Mo., 46-19. Conway tallied four touchdowns and an extra point to give him a season's total of 20 touchdowns and one extra point in 10 games.

Mac Moore of Sam Houston State is second with 110 points and Jack Parker of Mississippi State ranks third with 106 points.

Billy Vessels of Oklahoma tops Big Seven Conference scorers with 78 points. Willie Roberts of Tulsa remains atop the Missouri Valley with 72 and Billy Quinn of Texas heads the Southwest Conference with 66.

to the other big ones—the Rose and Orange.

The Western representative of the Rose Bowl will be decided before a crowd of about 100,000 in Los Angeles when two of the most powerful eleven in the nation, UCLA and Southern California, come to grips.

Both are undefeated and untied and have smothered all opposition with their near-impregnable defenses. Against a total of 16 opponents they have given up just 67 points, or about four a game. There's no doubt that it will be a low-scoring game, but the question is: Which can score? Possibly one touchdown will settle it.

Most observers rate the pair about equal on defense, but give UCLA a slight offensive edge, based mainly on the superb passing arm of Paul Cameron.

This will be the national television Game of the Week, and for the third straight week the NCAA has come up with a good one after most of the early season offerings turned out to be busts.

As for the other half of the Rose Bowl, the Big Ten championship remains very much up in the air. Michigan and Wisconsin are tied for the lead. This week, the Wolverines have the tougher assignment, facing Ohio State while Wisconsin goes up against Minnesota.

If either loses, the survivor gets the title and goes to the Rose Bowl. If both win, they'll wind up in a tie and a conference committee will choose the bowl team.

The Orange Bowl promoters, who are sitting back biding their time, will have their eyes on Alabama, Syracuse and Pitt, the three major possibilities.

If Alabama puts up a good show against Maryland—it's too much to expect the Terrapins to lose two in a row—the Crimson Tide should clinch one of the spots. Alabama lost to Georgia Tech Saturday, but it was by an eyelash, 7-3. Maryland, meanwhile, was being dumped out of the unbeaten class by Mississippi, 21-14.

Syracuse should have no problem in Fordham, but Pitt, one of the surprises of the season, will have no picnic against Penn State, a team that was in line for a bowl bid until a couple of weeks ago.

The best guess, assuming they both look good, is Alabama and Pitt for the Orange nomination.

Georgia Tech, which meets Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl, figures to roll right along. The Engineers, with eight straight victories this season and 23 games without a defeat, entertain Florida State. Ole Miss, the terror of the football world since beating Maryland, gets the day off before winding up operations against Mississippi State the following week.

Tennessee, Texas' opponent in the Cotton Bowl, plays Kentucky, which should prove no problem. The Vols are right behind Georgia Tech in the Southeastern Conference standings, and if they whip Kentucky, they'll pull even. Texas, which clinched the Southwest Conference title by turning back Texas Christian, 14-7, is idle and winds up against Texas A and M next week.

Meanwhile, most of the top teams came through last Saturday's action unscathed. The No. 1 outfit, Michigan State, defeated Notre Dame, 21-3, in a contest that was closer than the score indicates. Southern Cal blanked Washington, 33-0. UCLA was idle. Tennessee clouted Florida, 26-12, and Oklahoma, which only has to beat Nebraska this week to win the Big Seven crown, topped Missouri, 47-7.

In the Ivy League, Penn, the leader must only beat Cornell on Thanksgiving Day to wrap up the title. A similar situation holds in the Skyline Conference and Southern Conference. In the Skyline, Utah can take it by beating Utah State also on Thanksgiving Day, while in the Southern loop, Duke is a surefire bet if it dumps North Carolina State, one of the weak sisters.

Hunter Is Shot

CARTHAGE (P)—Clifford Jennings, Carthage, 24, is in serious condition from a gunshot wound received accidentally while hunting yesterday.

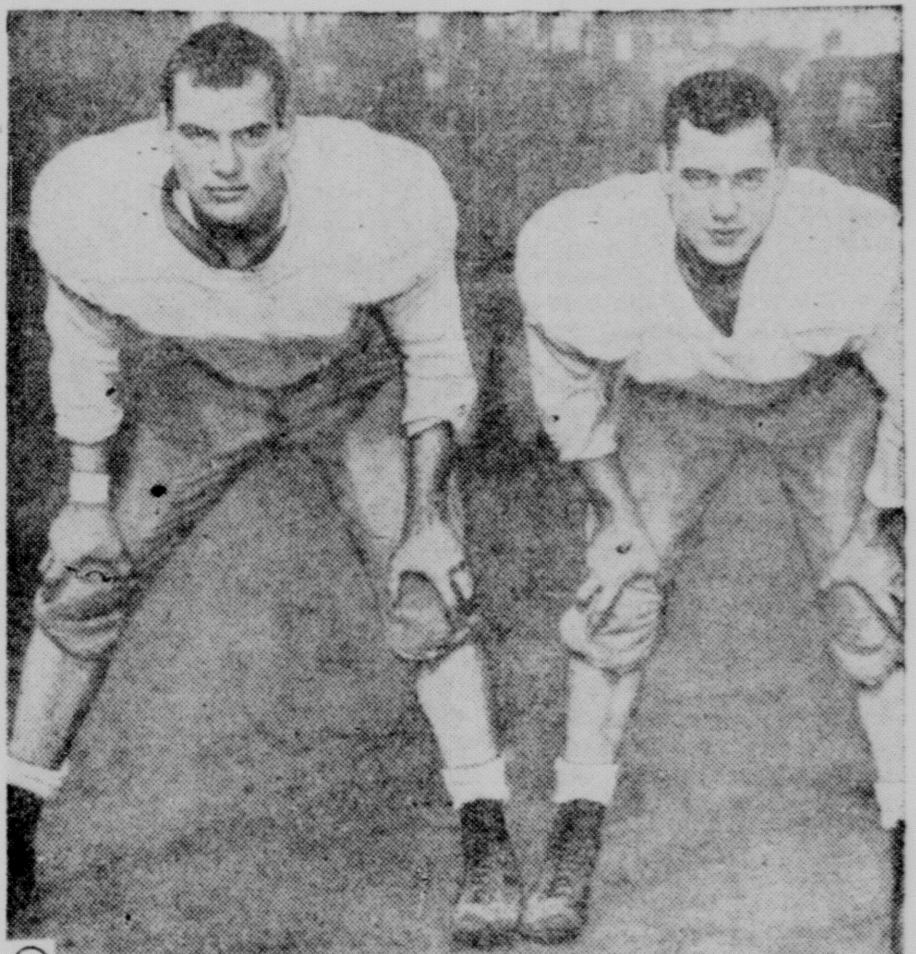

Deputy Sheriff Paul Archer said Jennings and his brother-in-law, Charles Williams, were hunting squirrels northeast of Carthage when the accident happened.

Fertilizer Outlook Good For Next Year

Here's how the fertilizer supply situation for the next crop year looks according to a report from James A. Harvey, chairman of the Pettis County PMA committee.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been surveying the present production and the prospects for increasing supplies by next year. And it's ready to report that we can count on 12 per cent more fertilizer to grow next year's crops.

Here's how the increase runs by kinds of fertilizer:

First, nitrogen. There the supply is up a little more than 11 per cent from what we had this year. That allows for increased production and about the same balance of exports and imports as we had this year.

Now, for phosphates. Production recently has been better than expected earlier. The industry has been able to get greater supplies of sulfur and sulfuric acid than expected. The department assumes the increase in production will continue; also that there'll be new sources of sulfuric acid in time to help next year's output of phosphates. So it forecasts an increase of 10 per cent in the supply.

And finally, potash. The Department of Agriculture believes we can count on a little heavier imports next year, and an expansion of our output here at home. So it forecasts the sharpest percent of increase in potash. It says we may have about 17 per cent more next year than we did in 1951-52.

Here are the total supplies of each kind of fertilizer predicted for next year. The department estimates we'll have a little more than 1 1/2 million tons of nitrogen. We may have about 2 1/4 million tons of phosphates. And we can count on more than 1 3/4 million tons of potash.

Almost 90 per cent of U. S. farms have electricity.

Balanced Farming Notes

In Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN Associate County Agent

Bradley's Do Good Job Of Remodeling

I had the opportunity to see a modern kitchen and bathroom in a real old farm house at Jim Bradley's near last week. Jim Bradley and his attractive wife and 4 fine youngsters came to their farm home from the heart of Chicago last November. Since that time they have put out a crop, cared for a flock of sheep, seeded 15 acres of permanent pasture and entirely modernized the home.

In spite of the facts that crops were short and little of the pasture grass has started, the Bradleys like their new home and are enjoying themselves thoroughly. The 2 older youngsters are in 4-H Club work. Mrs. Bradley has attended Home Economics Clubs in 2 counties (part of their farm is in Morgan County) the family is attending a local rural church and also belongs to the Balanced Farming Association.

The fact that they came to the Extension Office and joined the Balanced Farming Association gave us the opportunity to know them and to work with them in planning to modernize the home. Most of that job is now done and Miss Mae Everett, present Home Agent, and I were out there the other day taking a few pictures of what has been accomplished.

The kitchen was originally a real large room and from it has been taken a good sized bathroom and a very nice "U" shaped kitchen. This still leaves room for an entrance hall which gives access to the utility room, bathroom and 2 bedrooms as well as containing a floor furnace, washing machine and clothes dryer. A gigantic front bedroom has also been divided making one room for the 3 girls and the other for Mr. and Mrs. Bradley. Certainly we can say it's a job well done.

Farm Ponds Satisfactory For Home Water Supply

Fred Hoos stopped by the office the other day to discuss new members for the local Balanced Farm association. While here he was telling that his family hoped to complete their home remodeling plans this winter. The Hoos made their plans several years ago with the help of the local Home Agent.

Farmers Check For Soil, Water Conservation

Just what soil and water conservation practice or practices can be carried out that will do most to check erosion and deterioration and make the land more productive?

That is the question that farmers are asking themselves as they check their farms with their PMA community committees to determine their needed conservation. All of the conservation needs of the farm are being considered and the Agricultural Conservation Program will be centered on those that are most needed.

As James A. Harvey, chairman of the Pettis County PMA committee, explains the current effort, where erosion is taking a heavy toll of the topsoil, program assistance will be taken to check this waste. Where both water and soil are being washed through heavy runoff, practices will be directed at this problem.

The chairman stresses that ACP practices will be aimed at increased production to assure the needed food and fiber for the Nation's rapidly increasing population. This production, he points out, must come largely from the acres now being farmed, and the program is a means to this end.

Need 300 Layers For Profits In Eggs

If you want to make a good profit in the egg production business you need to have at least 300 layers.

A study of poultry records shows three things, according to University of Missouri Poultrymen.

1. On the basis of feed, layers make a return about equal to livestock.

2. The average flock of 100 hens or so does not make good use of labor.

3. A large flock and high production per layer are goals you must reach to show a good profit from hens.—R. I. C.

Names for Christmas were drawn. Charles Bahner joined the club.

Now May Order Trees, Shrubs For Farm Use

Application blanks are now at the Extension Office for forest tree planting stock and wildlife shrubs to be secured from the Missouri Conservation Commission.

When you come to the office to place your order it is necessary for you to furnish the information on the location of your farm such as the number of the section, township and range.

These will be shipped in March or early April. The cost per 1,000 is $6.00 for Shortleaf Pine, Jack Pine, Virginia Pine, Eastern Red Cedar, Black Locust, Green Ash, Pin Oak, Catalpa, Osage Orange and Multiflora Rose. The cost is $10.00 per 1,000 for Scotch Pine and Black Walnut seedlings. Others that may be ordered are Stratified Walnut Seeds (50c per 100), Shrub Lespedeza (for Quail Food) ($3.00), Wildlife Bundle ($7.00), Quail Food and Cover Plot Bundle ($3.00).

Since the State of Missouri is furnishing this stock at nominal cost to encourage farm reforestation, when you order you must sign an agreement on 6 points.

1. To pay the above cost, which includes delivery charges.

2. To call for the trees as soon as possible after they are delivered at Sedalia.

3. To use the trees for one or more of the following types of planting: (a) Establishment of a woodlot; (b) Improvement of a woodlot; (c) Erosion control; (d) Farm Windbreak; (e) Christmas trees; (f) Wildlife or farm pond.

4. To protect trees from fire, trespass and grazing by livestock, and not remove any except in necessary thinning, until they are of usable size for timber, posts or Christmas trees.

5. To permit representatives of the State Extension Service or the Missouri Conservation Commission to inspect and study planted area at any time.

6. To pay the express delivery charge if order is received too late to be included with regular deliveries to the county.—R. I. C.

Schedule for Diabetes Tests Announced for County Schools

Approximately 2,000 students of the Sedalia Public and Parochial Schools will be tested for diabetes as part of this year's Diabetes Detection Drive, the Pettis County Medical Society announced today.

In thanking school officials for their cooperation Dr. Carl Siegel, local chairman for Diabetes Week, pointed out that while diabetes occurs less frequently in children than in adults, the cases in children are usually more severe.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Betty Murrell, public school nurse, the following schedule has been arranged for the testing of school children:

Nov. 17-18—Smith-Cotton High School.

Nov. 19—Whittier, Horace Mann and Broadway Schools.

Nov. 20—Washington, Jefferson and Mark Twain Schools.

Assisting Mrs. Murrell in this work will be members of the Parent Teachers Associations, nurses aides and Gray Ladies of the Red Cross and members of the Registered Nurses Association of Sedalia.

There are at present an estimated 100,000 youngsters in the United States under treatment for diabetes," Mr. Siegel said, "and most of them, like adult diabetics, are able to live normal and happy lives. But there are many other children who have diabetes unknown to themselves or their parents. Through mass screening of school children, and general public education, we hope to find these unknown cases and place them under control.

"The process of medical science is now more striking," Dr. Siegel said, "than in the control of diabetes in children. Before insulin was first used clinically, just 30 years ago," he continued, "virtually every child discovered to be diabetic died of the disease. Today, thanks to insulin and other improvements, the diabetic child can expect a life just as normal and about as long as a non-diabetic."

"Many medical experts on diabetes declare that the diabetic child has a better chance of success and a happier life than his non-diabetic neighbor," Dr. Siegel said. "The reason is that the routine of good health and self-control imposed by a diabetic condition is likely to produce an individual with strong sense of responsibility and self-discipline. These qualities are helpful in any field of endeavor."

Poor Soil, Poor Feed, Poor Livestock and Poor People

Poor soils means poor feed and poor feed means poor livestock and poor people.

The poor quality and poor feed value, as well as low yields of hay, pasture and grain on a large area of acid worn-out land, are serious handicaps in the production of livestock and livestock products. The health, growth and production of livestock depends on the amount of nutrients, such as protein, phosphorus and calcium, supplied in the feed; and the amount of these nutrients in the feed crops depend on the amounts of nitrogen (an essential part of protein), phosphorus, and calcium (lime) in the soil. The amounts of important vitamins may also depend upon the fertility of the soil.

The low nutritive value of food grown on these low-fertility soils likewise affects the health of the people.

Corn, hay and pasture produced on treated soil is preferred to that from untreated soil.

One experiment has shown that lespepeza on strongly acid soil that had no treatment contained 215 pounds of protein, 13 pounds of calcium, and 2.6 pounds of phosphorus. A ton of lespepeza grown on similar land, treated with limestone and rock phosphate, contained 260 pounds of protein, 17 pounds of calcium, and 4 pounds of phosphorus. Also there was a big difference in the yield in favor of the treated land. Livestock require definite amounts of protein and mineral for growth, maintenance, and milk production. Where the soil is lacking in lime, phosphorus, or other plant-food elements, feed is deficient in these important nutrients and consequently cannot supply enough for healthy and productive livestock. Where feed is seriously deficient in these nutrients, bone disorders and other diseases on livestock may develop. Feed the soil, the soil will feed the crops, and the crops will feed the livestock.—R. F. C.

Greek Voters Pick Military Hero as Chief

ATHENS, Greece (P)—Greek voters in parliamentary elections yesterday overwhelmingly picked Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, the country's stern, tough military hero, to head their government.

With 83 per cent of the votes counted, Papagos' right-wing Greek Rally was leading in races for 235 of the legislative body's 300 seats. It promised him the greatest parliamentary majority won by any one faction since Eleutherio Venizelos' Liberal triumph in 1928.

The caretaker government of Premier Dimitrios Kessipoulos announced it would resign tomorrow. King Paul then was expected to give a mandate to the 68-year-old Papagos to form a new cabinet.

American officials had maintained an official "hands off" toward the election campaign, but it was an open secret that U. S. authorities felt a Papagos victory would help stabilize this poverty-stricken country, which has received more than two billion dollars in American economic and military aid since World War II.

Until today, the Americans, since assuming the burden of Greek aid in 1947, had hoped in vain for a one-party government with a parliamentary majority big enough to enact necessary legislation. Papagos was expected to give the Americans full co-operation, but it was generally conceded the tough old fighter would not be a "yes man."

Assailed by his opponents as a would-be dictator, military hero Papagos had promised a vigorous housecleaning of the heretofore-shaky Greek government.

The leftist-center coalition of National Progressive (EPEK) and Liberals led by former Premier Nicholas Plastiras today found an unexpected champion in actor Charles Laughton.

"Don't sell these young people short," Laughton said. "They're a lot smarter than people think they are."

Laughton should know. The young people of America are largely responsible for an important and different turn in his long and distinguished career.

This development began during the war. Seeking some way to assist in the war effort, Laughton was stymied because he is not primarily an entertainer. His singing is not notable, he doesn't have the temperament to tell jokes and he is ill equipped for doing a tap dance. So he decided to appear on veterans' hospitals, reading from the Bible, Shakespeare and other classics.

"To my great surprise, the audiences were exceptionally receptive," he said.

Laughton's readings in the hospitals led to a nationwide tour, many of his appearances being before universities. He has a wealth of stories about his adventures.

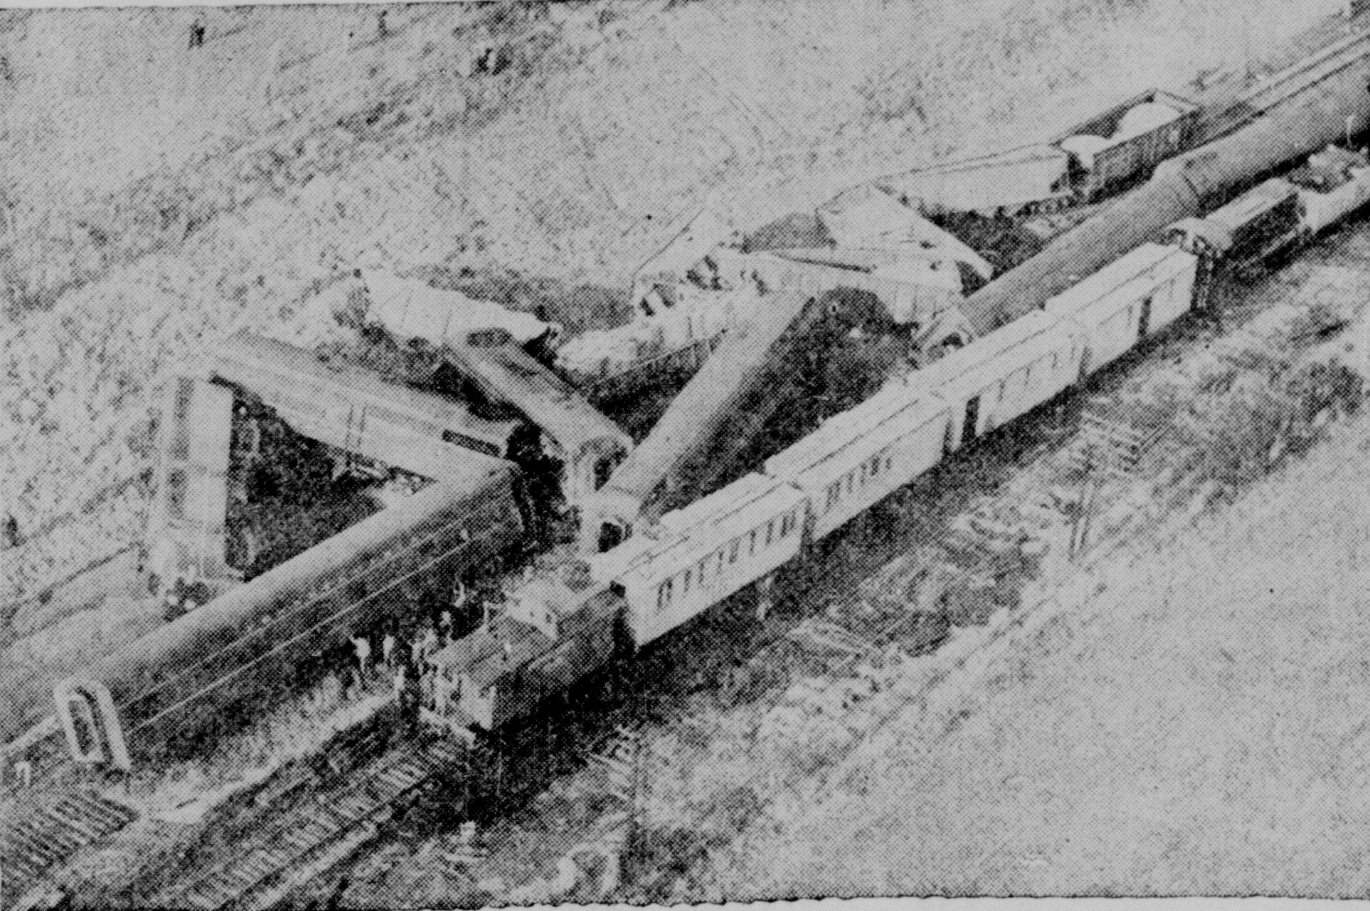

"Once I was scheduled to appear at Purdue University in an auditorium that holds more than 6,000," he recalled. "I was to be part of the annual vaudeville show. Acts like Guy Lombardo and Nellie Lutcher were to appear on the first half. I thought I would be murdered by following such a bill."

"It turned out that the university asked me to do two shows instead of one, in order to handle the crowd."

The actor said the intelligence of the younger generation has been underestimated.

"They are fed on a diet of comic books," he said. "Actually, they are capable of appreciating intellectual things. I found this out in the hospitals and in the universities where I have read and taught."

"I find that poetry strikes a responsive chord with all of them. Each one will comment that his father or mother or uncle or someone had instilled in them an appreciation for poetry. Most often

Charles Laughton Defends Youths As a Smart Lot In US

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Since the start of history, older citizens have been proclaiming that the younger generation is going to the dogs.

But today young Americans found an unexpected champion in actor Charles Laughton.

"Don't sell these young people short," Laughton said. "They're a lot smarter than people think they are."

Duke's Visit Causes Washday Confusion

HARLOW NEW TOWN, England (P)—A Monday washing crisis that developed with today's visit here of the Duke of Edinburgh has been cleaned up.

Somebody told someone else who immediately informed her neighbor person who tried to show him the beauty of fine writing.

"The trouble today is that some people try to make out poetry as something for sissies. That is something we must overcome, since the greatest thoughts have been expressed by poets."

Laughton, who is currently repeating his Oscar-winning role as Henry VIII in "Young Bess," is planning more food for the nation's intellect. He just adapted and directed the poetic "John Brown's Body" and sent it on the road.

Army Builds Planes To Help Infantrymen

WASHINGTON (P)—The Army is building a 2,200-plane air fleet of its own to help foot soldiers in combat zones.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, said yesterday about half the aircraft would be cargo-type helicopters and the other half light, fixed-wing planes with an empty weight of not over 5,000 pounds. He said Air Force functions are not being duplicated.

$4,062,143 Is Raised For Cerebral Palsy

NEW YORK (P)—A record $4,062,143 was raised by United Cerebral Palsy and its affiliates throughout the nation in the organization's third year of operations, the organization reports.

DUNKIRK, N. Y. (P)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), who is slated to become chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in the new Congress, says he believes the number of federal employees can be cut in half.

He also says he favors cuts in both domestic and foreign spending.

"Anybody who is fair-minded and who knows how the people of Europe feel, says the time has come to let them carry their own burdens.... We are not gaining any friends or aiding our position by continuing to give our money away," he said yesterday.

The actor said the intelligence of the younger generation has been underestimated.

"They are fed on a diet of comic books," he said. "Actually, they are capable of appreciating intellectual things. I found this out in the hospitals and in the universities where I have read and taught."

I wholeheartedly agree with you. It's a bad habit for anyone. Most numbers are listed in the telephone book and one should always look in the directory first. If the number is not listed, then, and only then, should one call Information. Telephone people tell me that 3 out of 4 calls to Information are unnecessary.

A writer inquires: "Mrs. Post, will you please comment about leaving and taking telephone messages?"

If the person you call is not in, leave your name. It's impolite to say, "This is a friend" or "Never mind" when you're asked, "May I tell him who called?" If you take a message for anyone—write it down. It's annoying to be told that someone called, but "I can't remember the name. Anyway, he wanted you to phone him, but I guess he'll call you back."

A young mother wants to know: "Should children be taught to use the telephone?"

Yes. The telephone is so much a part of our modern living that children should know what it will do and how to use it. That doesn't mean that children should be allowed to rush to answer the telephone every time it rings. The child's training in good usage and good telephone manners should include what not to do, also.

Montana's New Governor Came From Sweden 40 Years Ago

HELENA, Mont. (P)—When Montana's Republican governor-elect stepped off the boat from Sweden 40 years ago, nearly penniless, "ham and eggs" were the only English words he knew. At least, so his friends say.

Since then energetic 60-year-old J. Hugo Aronson has increased his vocabulary considerably and has built up a reputation of making a success of just about everything he turns a hand to.

The "Galloping Swede," as he is popularly known, has been a state senator twice, a state representative three times, has served

Pearl Will Marry White Jazz Drummer

LONDON (P)—Pearl Bailey, popular Negro blues singer, and her white fiancé, jazz drummer Louis Bellson Jr., say "definitely" they will get married tomorrow or the day after despite his father's objections to the mixed match.

The smiling American couple hugged and kissed warmly when 29-year-old Bellson, a member of Duke Ellington's band, flew in from New York yesterday, Miss Bailey, 34, has been appearing here in the chic Colony Club.

Bellson told "newsman" his father, Louis Bellson Sr. of Moline, Ill., had cabled him a warning he would disown him if he marries his Negro sweetheart. But nothing, young Bellson vowed, will halt the couple's plans.

They have the blessing of Bellson's mother, who yesterday told reporters in Moline that when the pair return, "My home certainly will be open to them. I wish both of them all the happiness in the world. My son is 29 and he certainly knows what he's doing."

Mountain Climb Ends, But Without Report

KATMANDU, Nepal (P)—Swiss and Nepalese mountain climbers trying to scale the world's highest peak were believed today to have either conquered Mt. Everest or to have failed in their attempt.

A nine-day-old report, brought here yesterday by native runner, said the Swiss-led expedition then had established its eighth camp only 150 feet from the top of the more than 29,000-foot-high Everest. That, itself, is higher than man has ever climbed and lived to tell it.

Experts said they were certain that by now "the attempt is over and the Swiss are on the way down, whether they have won or lost," because it would hardly be possible for them to remain long at such a height.

President Can Fire Few US Workers

WASHINGTON (P)—Robert Ramspeck, Civil Service Commission chairman, says a new president can hire and fire only about one-half of 1 per cent of all federal workers.

Ramspeck, in a recorded radio interview last night, said that this amounted to approximately 2,500 out of more than 2½ million federal employees.

However, he estimated a new administration can change between 12,000 to 25,000 jobs, apparently counting assistants and deputies not appointed directly by the president but by officials under him.

Lords Ask Excuse From Wearing Ermine

LONDON (P)—A number of lords have asked Queen Elizabeth II if they may be excused from wearing expensive velvet and ermine robes—or even dyed rabbit, for that matter—at her coronation next June.

A group of lords from all parties suggested that a number of seats be set aside for them, separate from their richly garbed fellow peers. The request has been formally presented through the earl marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, who is in charge of arrangements.

A Democrat class ad will do it.
